Online Certificate in Bilingual Special Education

The George Washington University's Department of Teacher Preparation and Special Education announces a new distance learning certificate program in bilingual special education.

Intended for general education teachers, ESOL teachers, special educators, administrators, counselors, and other American and international educators, our certificate program can help you acquire the skills to differentiate between students acquiring a second language and students with additional special education needs, to understand and plan for varying instructional needs, and to work within an inclusive classroom to meet all students' needs.

To learn more about the bilingual special education certificate program, visit http://gsehd.gwu.edu/Bilingual+Special+Education+\(Certificate\)) or contact Dr. Amy Mazur at amazur@gwu.edu or (202) 994-1511.

* All courses in the distance-based certificate program are taught online, with supplemental material available through DVD and CD-ROM.
